The meaning of the name Bojorques or Bohorquez seems to be unknown. I have wondered if it is Basque or maybe Germanic in origin. They are first recorded as being in the Vale of Runanza, District of Trasmiera in the province of Santander which is the northernmost part of Old Castile on the north coast of Spain. An early manor existed in the vale of Runanza. This was in the dark ages or early middle ages. In 1340 a Bojorques was knighted after the battle of Salado near Tarifa on the south coast of Spain. A History of Spain by Charles E. Chapman, Ph.D. 1925, p. 117: Alfonso's (XI of Castile) great work was the political and administrative organization of the country, but there were two external events of his reign which are worth recording. In 1332 the Basque province of Alava was added to Castile, although with a recognition of the jurisdiction of the law of Alava. More important, perhaps was a great conflict with Granada and the Benimerines of Morocco, who once more tried to emulate the successes of their coreligionists of the eighth century. The Kings of Aragon and Portugal joined Alfonso to avert this peril, and a great battle was fought in 1340 at the river Salado, near Tarifa where the Muslim forces were completely defeated. Though not yet forty at the time of his death Alfonso had already written his name in large letters on the pages of Castilian history.

I have wondered if the name Bojorques is Germanic in origin. Bjork means birch tree and this could have come down from the Visigoths who ruled Spain after the collapse of the Roman Empire. They had originated on the island of Gotland, Sweden and expanded into Germany. Borg, Scandinavian and German, someone who came from a fortified stronghold. Several places have this name in Germany. Visigothic (West Gothic) rule ended in Spain with the invasion from north Africa of the Muslim Arabs and Berbers. Andalucia in southern Spain takes its name from another Teutonic people, the Vandals.

A branch of the Bojorques became established in southern Spain and Who's Who In Spain, 1967, lists three prominent men, Fermen Bohorquez Gomez, Jose Bohorquez y Gomez and Manuel Bohorquez y Vegazo, all of Jerez de la Frontera, Cadiz. Data sent by Nancy Henshall.

A Juan Bojorquez was born in Mexico City and started teaching in 1586, became Bishop of Venezuala then Oaxaca, Mexico and died there in 1633. A Pedro Bojorquez came to South America in 1620 and evidently convinced Indians that he was an Inca then led an uprising and was executed by the Spanish in Peru in 1667.

Estaban Martin Bohorques, an attorney, was in 1563 left in charge of San Juan Bautista, the capital of Sonora, as judge and captain. Unknown Arizona and Sono: 1693-1791. Villa de Sinaloa Francisco de Ibarra founded Villa de Sinaloa, now Sinaloa de Leyva in 1563. It was abandoned because of Indian hostility and was re-occupied in 1583 becoming a presidio named San Felipe de Sinaloa with twenty five men in 1596. By 1678 the wars of the gran Chicameca were long over. The province of Sinaloa, Mexico, had a white population of 600 and at San Felipe de Sinaloa there were 1,200 people of Spanish-Indian descent. To the north a Nicolas de Bohorques was in action against Apaches in 1701 during the Fr. Kino and Fr. Saltatierra attempt to discover a route to the island of California. I do not know what Potrero (pasture) de Bojorques and San Antonio Bojorques are like. Cindy Lo Buglio sent me a tracing of their location from an Atlas on Mexico. The name Antonio may have significance. Pedro Antonio Bojorques came in the de Anza expedition of 1776 to Alta Calif. There were several female descendants named Antonia and his son Bartolome Francisco Bojorques was grantee of Rancho Laguna de San Antonio in what later became Marin and Sonoma Counties. Whether father or son may have named the lake while on some exploration or while at San Vicente on the Northern Frontier i unknown.

Today the lake bed is dry but in the late 1960's Laguna de San Antonio was quite full in the winter and would gradually dry up in the summer. Untill the early 1980's the Laguna lake to the west still had water. There are still San Antonio Creek as part of the Marin-Sonoma County line. San Antonio Mtn* rises along the south of Chileno Valley. There was San Antonio Township. To the east there is San Antonio Road and i Petaluma there is San Antonio High School. Rancho Arroyo (Creek) de San Antonio bordered Rancho Laguna de San Antonio on its east side. The city of Petaluma is on the site of Arroyo de San Antonio on the west side of the Petaluma River and on the site of Rancho Petaluma on the east side of the river.

The first data from the Mission records was from Thomas Workman Temple II. Much more was done from Microfilms loaned to Mrs. Dorothy G. Mutnick by Br. Veronius Henry Charmaine Burdell has often sent data from records in Petaluma, old newspaper files and Marin Co. records. Mr. & Mrs. Henshall photographed records at St. Vincent de Paul's, Petaluma in the late 1960's. I did research at the California Room of the State Library and State Archives in Sacramento where many old records from Sonoma and Marin County are on loan. Correspondence with various descendants brought more information and corrections and additional data and copies of old photos are sought.

The purpose of this expedition was to bring colonists to found the Mission and Presidio of San Francisco not only with soldiers but families and to establish Spain claim to the S.F. Bay area. It has been noted that many came from La Villa de Sinaloa, Sinaloa, New Spain-Mexico. Villa de Sinaloa now Sinaloa de Leyba had been a provincial capital. In 1767 Carlos III, king of Spain ordered the expulsion of the Jesuits and their college and headquarters in Villa de Sinaloa were closed. In 1770 the Sinaloa River flooded wrecking the village and a church nearly 200 or so years old but before this the local mines had proved of uncertain productivity. San Miguel de Horcasitas had become the new capital. All this motivated many to go now and later to Alta California.

Fr. Font's list of the members of the expedition is not complete for he says in his diary that de Anza took away the list before he could finish copying it. See: H. Bolton's 5 volumes. Several other books have been published. Some few colonists decided to stay at Mission San Gabriel after coming across the mountains and deserts to California and others stayed at Monterey Presidio. Exploration of northern California had started with the Portola exp. of 1769 when S.F. Bay was discovered when they overshot Monterey Bay in the search of that objective.

Two bojorquez families came with de Anza, that of Jose Ramon Bojorquez and Pedro Antonio Bojorquez. How they were related is not known. Mrs. Mutnick says she could find nothing in the Mission records as to how they were related. Many have assumed that Jose Ramon Bojorques was the father of Pedro Antonio Bojorquez because he was 17 years older but the Spanish military recruitment records copied at the Bancroft library by the late John Vincent Gallagher from the Zoeth Skinner Eldredge copies state that the father of Pedro Antonio Bojorquez was named Juan Jose Bojorquez, no mother listed.

Events of 1777 may be very briefly disposed of, and as well here as elsewhere. The natives resumed their visits in March, gradually lost their fears, and on June 24th three adults were baptized, the whole number of converts at the end of the year being thirty one. Some slight improvements were made in buildings at both establishments: (Misn. and Presidio) but of agricultural progress we have no record. Jose Ramon Bojorges was the corporal in command of the mission guard.

In 1868, Pico testified in the luco v. Hare case that the Bojorques heirs "lived in a small house by the side of mine," it was a little to the south; and some of it was used in finishing the Pineda house to be purchased by Pico in 1844. Felis Buelna in the same case, testified that when he came to San Jose in 1822 Bojorques was already living in the house, and that Pico's house perhaps occupied a part of the site of the building: and Thomas Campbell stated that the adobe was in ruins in 1838.

from a tracing of a map showing location of San Antonio Bojorgues and Potrero de Bojorques in Sinaloa H.H. Bancroft lists Jose Ramon Bojorges as corporal of the guard at Misn. San Francsco de Asis in 1777. J.N. Bowman in his ms. on S.F. Bay Area adobes states that the first Mission structure of 1776 was an enramada or arbor of brush probably with a framework of tree limbs. The Priest's palizada site was also at about Mission and 14th and the 2nd. church a palizada of logs plastered with mud was built against the priest's hut. It was erected in Aug. and Sept. of 1776 and the first Mission chapel was dedicated on June 29,, 1776. Bowman gives a radius of error o 500 feet from Mission and 14th. The present Missson S.F. de Asis called Dolores afte the long filled in lake bed was designed by Fr. Palou and built between 1782-89 at wh at now is Dolores between 16th and Chula Lane. There was a complex of adobe buildings and the Mission mayordomo's adobe and two small adobes later owned by Candelario Valencia and the de Haro families were still standing in 1889.

p.4. Two of Josefa Higuera's ancestors were members of the expedition. They were he grandfather Ygnacio Higuera and her gt. grandfather Jose Ramon Bojorques. Both of them were soldiers from the Presidio of Tubac. (a chart on p. 168 shows 10 such ancestors)

p. 21. Josefa's paternal grandfather was one of the young settlers who were recruite for the expedition. His name was Ygnacio Antonio Anastacio Higuera. There was another family of three young daughters and mother and father. They were Jose Ramon Bojorques and his wife Francisca Romero and their daughtes Maria Antonia, Maria Micael and Maria Gertrudis. Maria Micaela became Josefa Higuera's paternal grandmother.

p. 22. By this time Father Font had a more pleasant duty to perform. Three young couples decided to be married at this mission. One of the couples were the grandparents of Josefa Higuera, Ygnacio Higuera and Maria Micaela Bojorques. The text of Father Font's entry in the register of the mission suggests that Ygnacio Higuera had the highest rank of the three men since his name is mentioned first, and is given the first time as de Higuera and the second time as de la Higuera.

p. 40. No members of the Bernal family or of the Higuera family were among the first settlers of San Jose. These men were stationed at the San Francisco Presidio and were part of the military guard. The soldier Ramon Bojorques was assigned to Mission Dolores.

p. 64. A vignette of life in San Jose about 1816 is in a memoir written by Jose Amador (a manuscript in the Bancroft library.) He wrote, trans. by Earl R.Hewitt.

"Last night there came up in my memory an incident which occured in the town of San Jose during the governship of Sola. Sergeant Luis Peralta was the commissioned officer. I was a member of the guard, since I belonged to the military post there.

"Governor Sola came from Monterey on a visit. Sergeant Peralta beat the drum to call everyone to come and greet the Governor who desired to see them. Everyone came and Sola told them he was delighted to see such an upright community. Many of the old time residents, whether through reverence in which they held the person of the governor, approached him and kissed his hand as though he were a mission father or a priest. After this general salutation, an old man named Jose Ramon Bojorques stepped forward. He told the governor that his wife was embarazada (a word usually used to mean pregnant and that she greatly desired to meet his Lordship. He called attention to the fact that the lady was more than 100 years of age and that he, her husband was between 80 and 90. The governor ordered Peralta to designate four of his men to escort him to Bojorques home. Peralta was overcome with laughter at this, but covered his mouth with his handkerchief and made a sign to me not to let on I had noticed.

I was named as one of the four. The governor did not noticed anything and we crossed the intervening 500 varas to the home of Bojorques, the old fellow coming along with us. The governor entered the house and exclaimed "God be Praised!" "For ever and ever" replied the little old woman, "Come in Senor Governador."

The little old lady did not rise, as her years did not permit it. She was Crippled.

Sola approached her, offered his hand and greeted her, she then offered her excused for not getting up saying that she was a cripple, and that they should take a rest on one of the whale bone chairs, since they possessed no better chairs.

(These were clever constructions of whale bones in the shape of chairs)

"Sola sat down beside her and then said to the old man "Senor Bojorques, you are a big rascal, a great big one, just a big simpleton! Didn't you tell me your wife was in the family way?

The old lady broke out laughing. Peralta and the rest of us burst out laughing as hard as we could. They lady said to the Governor, Senor Governador, don't you kn ow Ramon? Why he's a man you couldn't believe were he quoting the bible."

Old Bojorques was nothing daunted by this, but went on to say "Senor Governador I have not deceived your Lordship. My wife is embarazada." (Another definition that means suffering from an impediment.

Sola, half in joke and half in earnest, scolded him because he had not made clear the kind of embarazada with which his wife was confined before they set out for his house. So the visit ended with the Governor and all the rest in a merry mood. He afterward sent a present to the little old woman."

Pablo Vicente de Sola was governor from 1815 to 1822, the last of the Spanish Governors of California.

J.N. Bowman in The Peraltas and Their Houses, Calif. Hist. Soc. Quarterly, Sep. 1951 p. 217- A bit of romance is connected with Luis Peralta's transfer from Monterey to San Francisco in 1782: he was reported to the governor as one of two soldiers soliciing permission to marry. 4 For some unknown reason this marriage to the daughter of Pedro Bojorquez never took place, but a ceremony did occur two months later, when, on Feb 23, 1784, at Misn. Santa Clara, Luis Peralta was wed to Maria Loreto Alviso, aged thirteen, if the presidio census of 1790 is correct. "Archives of California" Provincial State Papers, Benicia Military, I, 26. Note: Maria Loreto Alviso was the sister of Francisco Xavier Alviso, cont. under Alviso

2nd. wife:
MARIA ANGELA de la Luz Trejo, b. c. 1742, San Miguel de Horcasitas, Sonora, Mexico
m. 1. Corporal Domingo Alviso
d. 3 Jan. 1803, Royal Presidio of Monterey, Calif.
b. 4 " " , at the presidio. Whether this was the cem. between the two arms of the estuary or the other one in back of the Presidio Chapel I do not know. The former cemetery is in the area of later ones still ther and the one in back of the Chapel may no longer exist, least entirely because at some time after the American takeover Fremont St. was excavated far below the original ground level. The presidio site including the chape is on the original higher ground and whether the burial are there or were in the area excavated for Fremont St. I don't know. Why Fr. Font listed her as Chumasero when evidently in other records she is Trejo is unknown. According to Keith Ponsford's Alviso ms. she wrote: "Adios San Miguel lucido con sus milpas y donde dejar Angela d Trejo emenados sus ojos." Translated as: Farewell, San Miguel, to the shining corn and stubbled fields, there Angela Trejo leaves her eyes i pledge. Her burial record reads: Fourth day of January of the year 1803, in the cemeterey of the royal presidio of Monterey ecclesiastical burial was given to the body o Maria Angela Trejo, wife of Pedro Bojorques. Received the holy sacraments and this I sign. Fr. Jose Vinals. Domingo Alviso, a corporal, had died 10 Mar. 1777 and was buried at the first site of Mission S.F. de Asis. He was probably stationed there, the colonists had been divided between the presidio and mission.

Fr. Font lists her in his diary of the de Anza exp. with her 1st. husb. and children under soldiers of the Presidio, Tubac, where her 1st. husb. Domingo Alviso was stationed when they joined the exp. to Alta Calif.

Domingo Alviso: Maria Angela Chumasero, his wife. Children: Francisco, Xavier, Juan Ygnacio, Maria Loreto.

The marriage record of Pedro Antonio Bojorques and Maria Angela de la Luz Trejo reads in translation, Mis n. S.F. de Asis, p.5 #5, Intention of marriage give on June 28, 1777, marriage ceremony performed on July 20, 1777 by Fray Fran. Palou for Pedro Antonio Bojorges and Maria Angela Trejo, Pedro Antonio Bojorges, soldier of the presidio and widower of the late Francisca de Lara, who was buried in the church of the Royal Presidio of San Francisco. Maria Angela Trejo, widow of Domingo Alviso, who was buried in the church of the Mission. Witnesses: Gabriel Peralta, Ramirez Arellano, Ignacio Soto, Manuel Antonio Figaroa - soldiers. Senor Pablo P into and Raymundo Morante from the company of the Royal Presidio.

Fr. Font lists Pedro Antonio Bojorques in his Anza exp diary as a soldier recru evidently recruited at Villa de Sinaloa: Pedro Bojorques; Maria Francisca de Lara, his wife. Children: Maria Agustina.-3 His military recruitment record in Calif.:

These records were copied by the late John Vincent Gallagher from Zoeth Eldrede Skinners copies of the originals (lost evidently in the 1906 earthquake,) at the Bancroft Library. On 1 June 1810 he is at the Pueblo of San Jose and was in the Misn. Santa Escort when his last two sons were born, in 1780 and 1784. In 1780 this Mission was still evidently at its first site despite the floods of Jan-Feb. 1779, the cornerstone for a new temporary Mission was laid on 19 Nov. 1781 acc. to J.N. Bowman.

Census of the settlers of the Pueblo of San Jose de Guadalupe in 1790

Pedro Bojorques, campista, espanol, natl. de la Villa de Sinaloa, edad 36 anos, casado con Angela Trejo, espanola, de edad de 48 anos , con 3 hijo varones de 17 a 7 anos. Campista is not in my Dictionary but must mean something like Campesino, a rustic or field worker. 3 sons, young men aged 17 to 7 years old. In Los Fundadores, Leon Rowland lists Pedro Antonio Bojorques as being of mixed blood but here he is of Spanish descent. He had been confirmed by Fr. Junipero Serra #23, 11 Nov. 1779, Misn. Sta. Clara, Cal.

H.H. Bancroft, Hist. of Calif. Pio. Reg. & Index: B. Pedro, settler at S.F. 1791-1800 regidore at S. Jose 1810, I. 716. II. 134.

The Bojorques brother older half Alviso brothers and sister would have moved out on their own when the Bojorques were still children as did their half sister Maria Agustina Bojorques who m. Francisco Xavier Alviso. When Maria Angela de la Luz Trejo the 2nd. wife of Pedro Antonio Bojorques died they were at Monterey where her son Francisco Xavier Alviso had gone to live. Perhaps they had gone to Monterey in 1810 for Bancroft lists him at S.F. till that year. He settled at San Jose. However in 1807 he m. a third time, to Maria Dolores Amezquita at Misn. San Antonio.

Maria Angela de la Luz Trejo had come in the Anza exp. with her first husband, Domingo Alviso who had died in Mar. 1777 and was buried at the first site of Misn. S.F. de Asis. They had brought four children to Calif. all born in San Miguel de Horcasitas, Sonora, Mexico. They were:

1. Francisco Xavier Alviso, b. c. 1765.

PEDRO ANTONIO BOJORQUEZ married a 3rd time. There was no issue.
Misn. was born c. 1766 at the Royal Presidio of Tubac, Sonora, Mex. and came to Alta Calif. with her pts. Juan Antonio Amezquita and Maria Juana de Gauna. Her father is listed as a mulatto. Her first husband was Vicente Antonio Arroyo who also came in the de Anza exp. of 1776 and they had three children:

J.N. Bowman in his adobe ms. does not not mention a site for the Pedro Antonio Bojorques adobe in San Jose evidently having found no evidence or mention of it. However in his will one of his sons Bartolome Francisco Bojorques the longest lived and grantee of Rancho Laguna de San Antonio in Marin and Sonoma Counties, wanted his son Pedro to regain property that had belonged to his own father Pedro Antonio Bojorque The location of this property is not given. It could have been in San jose or it could have been the 80 acres the Talamantes say was at the San Francisco Presidio. Nothing has been found in land grant records. J.N. Bowman in his adobe ms . mention that in 1925 a colonel ordered Spanish documents destroyed at the S.F. Presidio.

The presidio was soon rebuilt from this palizada to about 300 x 310 feet and the east wall in 1790 on Commander Sal's map was a fence of brush.

On March 4, 1792, Comandante Sal sent the governor a description accompanied by a plan which I reproduce.[1] Three sides of the square of 120 yards were occupied by adobe walls and houses, both of adobes and of rough stones laid in mud; and the fourth side was protected by a primitive palisade fence. All the structures were roofed with straw and tules, exposed to fire and at the mercy of the winds. All, except the com-

None of the structures were those originally built; each year some of them had fallen and been restored in the same faulty manner with the same perishable and 1800, with but meagre results so far as the presidio proper was concerned. On March 4, 1792, Comandante Sal sent the governor a description accompanied by a plan which I reproduce.[1] Three sides of the square of 120 yards were occupied by adobe walls and houses, both of adobes and of rough stones laid in mud; and the fourth side was protected by a primitive palisade fence. All the structures were roofed with straw and tules, exposed to fire and at the mercy of the winds. All, except the commandant's house lately completed and two or three of the soldiers' houses, were, through the poor quality of materials and want of knowledge and care on the part of the builders, liable to fall at any moment, the church being in a particularly precarious condition. None of the structures were those originally built; each year some of them had fallen and been restored in the same faulty manner with the same perishable

Feb. 18, 1795, Misn. S.F. de Asis military escort. Either he or his brother Bartolome Francisco is listed as: Francisco Hermenegildo Bojorques.

Same date: Jose Dolores Mesa and Hermenegildo Bojorques read the bans for the marriage of Joaquin Soto and Maria de la Luz Berreyesa. His brother Bartolo Bojorques was a witness to the wedding.

Aug. 22, 1801: Hermenegildo Ygnacio Bojorques was a witness at the wedding of Juan Antonio Amezquita & Maria Micaela Sotelo at Misn. Sta. Clara. Bartolo Pacheco was also a witness.

June 1. 1803: Hermenegildo Bojorques, cavalry soldier and mayordomo of Misn. San Jose Jose Dolores Mesa read the bans for the marriage of Joaquin Soto and Maria de la Luz Berreyesa both native of the S.F. Presidio. Witnesses were Francisco Castro, Carlos Castro and Bartolome Bojorques.

Note on the sites of Misn. Sta. Clara. The 1st was at the west bank of the Mission Creek 1,350 feet south of the Guadalupe River. It was founded Jan. 12, 1777. Twice flooded it was moved to a 2nd. site, temporary to the south. This was used untill 1784 when another move was made to Franklin St. and Campbell Av in Santa Clara. This 3rd site was said to have the most attractive of the Mission churchs but no picture of it is known. Earthquakes in 1812 and 1818 caused enough damage so that another move was made to the east side of the campus drive where a church was evidently built. The 5th church was built where the University of Santa Clara modern replica now is. More data may be found in Hist. Spots in Calif by Rensch & Hoover, The Spanish and Mexican Adobe and other Bldgs in the Nine S.F. Bay Counties by J.N. Bowman. 1940. Bancroft Library, Volume 6 and The Five Franciscan Churchs of Mission Santa Clara 1777-1825 by Arthur Dunning Spearman, S.J. 1963. In his ms. J. N. Bowman mentions that the last adobe church of this Mission was built under the direction of Ygnacio Alviso c. 1822-25 supervised by padres Viader and Catala. It burned in 1926 and some of the adobe walls were incorporated into the modern replica.

I think that Hermenegildo Ygnacio Peralta b. 1791 was named after Hermenegildo Bojorques whose older half sister Maria Loreto Alviso had m. Luis Maria Peralta.

The mother of Hermenegildo Ygnacio Bojorques had written "A Dios, San Migu (de Horcasitas) lucido con sus milpas y rastrojos. Donde dejar Angela de Trejo emenados sus ojos." This is the late Keith Ponsford's Alviso Family History where he gives the translation - Farewell, San Miguel, to the shining corn and strubbled fields. There Angela Trejo leaves her eyes in pledge.

Witnesses to her marriage to Pedro Antonio Bojorques were Gabriel Peralta, Manuel Arrellano, Ygnacio Soto (all of the de Anza 2nd exp.) and Manuel Antoni Figueroa.

Of Jose Miguel Salazar nothing seems to be known except what is found in the Mission records. I do not know how he got to Calif. by land or sea. Another Salazar family was at Branciforte (now Sta. Cruz) founded in 1797 the same year he came to California. Branciforte was settled by Guadalajarans. The name Salazar is found in the Basque county of northern Spain and nearby. It means house or palace and dates from the time of Charlemange. There is a vale of Salazar I read somewhere in N.E. Navarre. Basque is spoken there and in the adjoining valley but is extinct to the east.

On the geonology chart below note that MARIA JESUS DE NUTKA was from the Indian village of Nutka or Nootka on the Pacific coast of Vancouver Island, British Columbia, Canada. It become a fur trading outpost in 1788 when an Englishman named Meares settled. The Spanish who claimed the area regarded him as a squatter. Estaban Martinez sent the traders to prison in San Blas when they would not stop gathering furs. The Nootka controversy ensued. George Vancouver a noted California visitor in the 1790's represented the British Government and Lt. Juan Francisco Bodega y Cuadra from Lima, Peru represented Spain. In 1775 Lt. Bodega had named Bodega Bay on the Sonoma coast while exploring in the schooner Soñora. The two representatives later met at the Monterey Presidio. Vancouver Island was originally Cuadra Island but as a freindship developed between the representatives Bodega decided to named it after Vancouver as well - Cuarda y Vancouver, but as time went on the Cuarda was dropped. Spain eventually gave up claim to the island.

See: Americas, July 1970, Quadra's And Vancouver's Island by Mabel B. McGuire. In 1967 Spain issued stamps in honor of Nootka (Nutka), Bodega and Martinez which are shown in the article. The Malespina Exp. came to Calif. in 1791, its artist did views of the Monterey Presidio

Misc. data: Bancroft - Salazar, Isidro, teamster at Monterey, 1847
1881-82 Sta. Clara Co. Directory, San Jose, Angelo and Isadore Salazar laborers, 226 San Carlos.

2. Jose Agustin Narvaez from Villa de Branciforte by Leon Rowland p. 9. Narvaez, bachelor, nineteen. Nat. of Villa Agua Caliente in Guadalajara . In 1806 he enlisted in the San Francisco Co. and in 1808 he and Maria Josefa Higuera, whom he had m. elsewhere, bap. a dau. Micaela de Jesus at Sta. Cruz. He settled in San Jose where he was alcalde in 1821 and regidor in 1827. In the 1841 San Jose padron he was given as 62 yrs. old, with his wife, Josefa Higuera, and five children: Lugarda, b. 1826; Maria Guadalupe, b. 1828 (?), Teresa, b. 1830; Antonio, b. 1831; and Maria, b. 1833.

Perhaps there were two daughters named Maria Guadalupe because a later one was sometimes named after an earlier one who had died. This would account for the two different dates for the birth of #1. Maria Guadalupe Narvaez. Her father came to Calif. on the schooner Concepcion and was one of eight settlers who had the choice of jail in Guadalajara or going to Calif.

#3. Am not absolutely sure about the ancestry of his wife Maria Josefa Higuera but 6 & 7 did have a dau. by this name. Nicolas Higuera, a son of 6 & 7 was grantee of Rancho Entre Napa in Napa Co.

Jose Agustin Narvaez was one of eight settlers for the new pueblo of the Villa de Branciforte where Santa Cruz now is. They had a choice of jail in Guadalajara, Mexico of going to Calif. The Concepcion had sailed from San Blas, Nayarit on the west coast of Mexico. He became grantee of Rancho San Juan Bautista in southern San Jose. There is a Narvaez Ave. His ranch was two leagues.

Misc. data. Marcos Gabriel Salazar #7929 Misn. Sta. Clara. Nov. 19, Marcos Gabriel Salazar, 2 days. of Miguel and Ma. Anta. Lojorquez: Marcos Altimirano on his daughter Gabriella, sponsors.

Notes by Bancroft"s helpers- Salazar, Gabriel - 1850 on SL Obispo assessment roll, hauling lumber at Monterey, Larkin nap. (with his bro. Isidoro. Bancroft. Aged 30, living at S. Bernadino, Dept. W.P. Ben. Profs- inz. kk 964 S.G. Co. private "38-"40, "41, 42. Last two a different person?

Casas And Courtyards by Helen S. Griffen, 1955. P. 40. The Pierre Hipolite Dallidet residence on Toro St. is set in the midst of an old fashioned garden. This was once the only improved property in its immediate vicinity, and was built by Gabriel Salazar, the father of Mrs. Dallidet. It remained for Pierre Dallidet, who arrived in San Luis Obispo in 1853, to enlarge and remodel the house. His son related an incident concerning the rebuilding. His father was puzzled to find a method by which he might true the foundation. One night it rained heavily, and the next morning the excavation was deep in water, establishing a perfect leveling device.

Historic Spots In Calif. 1966, Rensch & Hoover. rev. by Rev. Wm. Abeloe p. 381. Outstanding among them is the Pierre Hyppolite Dallidet adobe (SRL 720) on San Luis Obispo Creek at 1185 Pacific St, this was the home of a French vineyardist who came to the area in 1853. His son Paul presented the old residence and gardens to the San Luis Obispo County Historical Society.

If the data in this census is right this Gabriel Salazar b. c. 1800 could not be the one born in 1826. Being listed as being born in Mexico sometimes happened for peop- born in Calif. who were born in Calif. when it was still Mexican territory. Not accounted for in this census are the three children Tomasa, Albino de Jesus and Maria Gertrudis who were baptized at Misn. San Luis Obispo. If ages given are wrong it could be a typist"s error from hard to read originals or errors by the census taker if Gabriel Salazar and his wife spoke little English. Mrs. Mutnick didn"t find the marriage record and was unable to identify Maria Dolores Marquez

Correspondence with Dorothy F. Regnery in 1972 indicates that Marcos Gabriel Salazar was Chano Salazar who had farmed at Searsville, San Mateo Co. He was 54 in 1882 acc. to the 1886 San Mateo Co. Register. He appears in a photo sitting in front of a shant with Nicolas Martinez, son of Don Maximo Martinez in back of the Martinez ranch in Portola Valley, 1912 ?. Maximo Martinez was the grantee of Rancho Corte de Madera or Canada del (or) San Emilio (Emielio) or Todos Santos. Gabriel Salazar died on 27 June 1913, Spanish, single, 80 years old. Vol. 3, p. 284. No other information was given. The Register mentioned above stated he was a native of Calif. Mrs. Regnery was interested in the Martinez family.

The circumstances of the death of Juan Jose Bojorquez, senior are not known. His wife is sometimes confused with a 1st. cousin of hers, Maria Petra Pacheco the daughter of Miguel Antonio Pacheco of the de Anza exp. & his wife Juana Maria Lorenza Sanchez whose pts. were also of the de Anza. exp. This cousin m. 1. Juan de Soto in 1809 and m.2. Josef Cipriano Bernal, widower of Maria Raimunda Felicitas Ortega, 17 Jan. 1816

In Keith Ponsford's Alviso geonology Maria Petra Pacheco Bernal was living in San Jo in 1841, a widow with her children & Juan Bojorques, child of her first marriage. I do not know who the 2nd. husband was. Jose Ciprian Bernal who m. her cousin died in 18 11th. of April in San Jose. It is possible the mother of Juan Jose Bojorques (II) m. Jose Cipriano Bernal and not her cousin. In 1850 one of these cousins was in San Jos listed as a widow.

Whether this is the widow of Juan Jose Bojorques I who m. Jose Cipriano Bernal or her cousin of the same name I cannot be absolutely sure. If Maria Petra Pacheco the widow of Juan Jose Bojorques I m. a different Bernal I do not know who he is. One of the Maria Petra Pachecos died in 1846, evidently the widow of Juan Jose Bojorques I. The other Maria Petra Pacheco would then be the one who was listed as a widow in 1850.

Juan Jose Bojorges, being duly sworn deposes says, I am forty eight years of age reside in Santa Clara was born in San Francisco and lived here about thirty years. My father was a soldier and I lived with him I was familier with all the localities about San Francisco. My father had horses and cattle and I took care of them, they ranged around the vicinity of San Francisco. I know the Potrero - it was first called the Potrero and afterwards was called the Potrero Viejo (old) when the enclosure began to decay.

It is situated on the main road the other side of the little spring branch (?) I mean the main road from San Francisco to Monterey - I have known it as Potrero Viejo for about forty years - remember when it was first enclosed it has been enclosed for thirty years more or less - it was enclosed first by a ditch and afterwards by a stone wall - the ditch was made a year or more before the wall - they then made the wa -the wall commences in a little hollow ~~about~~ near the Mission, and begins about as far from the Mission on the other side as we are on this side - and runs along the camino real - some times down towards the Estero (Estuary) - This wall with the bay entirely enclosed the Potrero. The Potrero was used by the Mission to keep horses cattle and mules. I know the stone wall now there and it is fallen down and been re built - I knew Jose ~~Sibrian~~ Cornelio Bernal - I knew his Ranch called Potrero Viejo by Rincon de las Salines (Corner of the Salts) - and the Potrero Viejo of which I have spoken was a part of said Rancho - Bernal had his house and garden and tame cattle in Potrero Viejo - I speak of his first house that he built when he establised himself on the rancho - I know the other part of the Ranch of Bernal, called the Rincon de las Salines - it adjoins the other and is only seperated by a wall and an Estero - a big one part of the way and a little one farther up - There is only one Estero between the two tracts - The little Estero to which I refer is on the other side of the Potrero I have known Rincon de las Salines for some thirty years by that name ever since I hearded cattle for my father - it is bounded by the boundaries which I always knew, by the main road which runs from the spring branch I have spoken of to the Portasuela (pass) from thence to the Bay along the Ridge of the hill which runs from the Sierra of San Bruno to the bay. One the side both of this and the Potrero the bay lies - The hills I have described are also known as the hills of the visitation - I don't know how much land is contained in the two tracts - there might be about two leagues more or less.

Cross Examination.

Question. What were your means of ascertaining the boundaries of Rincon de Las Salines as you have described them to be the correct boundaries?

Ans. When they were measuring the Rancho. I met the party who was measuring in the Puerto Suelo, and the boundaries I have described were pointed out to me as the correct boundaries. The measurement was made about fourteen or fifteen years ago I suppose it was made by the judge but I do not know there were three or four of them, some Americans and Bernal - they had a compass - these are the only means I have of knowing the boundaries to be the correct boundaries.

Direct Resumed.

Question. Before the time this land was granted to Bernal was there any place known in this neighborhood as the Rincon de las Salines ~~by the place~~ called Rincon de las Salines - Its boundaries were the Potrero Viejo - the main road as far as Porto Suelo the ridge of the hills of San Bruno and the Bay.

Question. Was this place generally known in this neighborhood by this name?

Ans. It was.

Cross Examination Resumed.

Question. How did you ascertain the boundaries before the grant to Bernal.

Ans. Ever since I was a boy I heard the place with the boundaries I have described ~~as this correct boundaries of the place~~ called the Rincon de las Salines. The boundaries was known by general report as Rincon de las Salines.

Ranchos of California by Robert G. Cowan
Potrero Viejo, Rincon de las Salinas y. San Francisco including Bernal Heights, Hunter's Point, and much of South San Francisco to the county line with a small portion in San Mateo Co. 1 league was granted in 1839 and 1840 to Jose Cornelio Bernal, whose heirs were claimants for 4446 acres, patented Dec. 31, 1857.

When Juan Jose Bojorges Jr. refers to his father he must mean his step-father Jose Cipriano Bernal since his real father had died a few months before the birth of this only son. The full name of the grantee of Potrero Viejo o Rincon de las Salina was Jose Cornelius Cipriano Bernal and his wife was Carmen Cibrian, and he was the son of Juan Francisco Bernal (II) and Maria Petronia Gutierrez, both of the de Anza exp. of 1776.

Jose Cipriano Bernal who seems to have been the stepfather of Juan Jose Bojorge Jr. was the son of Jose Apolonario Bernal and and his first wife, Maria Apolonaria Soberanes.. Jose Apolonario Bernal was a younger brother of Juan Francisco Bernal II and had also come to Calif. with their parents in 1776, Juan Francisco Bernal I and his wife, Ana Maria Josefa de Soto.

Q. 12. In what year did you first go to Pacheco's rancho, to reside.

A. I do not remember, I lived there about ten or twelve years, that is while there was work on the ranch, and each year when the work was finished Francisco Alviso remained there as mayor Domo and I used to go away, and came back the following year when the work would again begin.

A. I do not know I have never measured it

Objected to as incompetent and irrevelant.

A. I do not know, Do not ask me such questions, go and measure it and you will know.

21. Do you mean to state on your oath that you have no opinion whether the distance from Amador's ranch to the Palos Secos is more or less than two leagues?

Same objection as the last.

A. I think it must be less than two leagues however as I never measured it and am not a surveyor Ido not know the distance.

22. Did you not state within the last three or four weeks in the presence of Mr. Kottinger and Harry Bee, that at the house of the said Bee in San Jose, that Pacheco's ranch extended towards the South to the Tocaloabe (?)

A. I said so to Mr. Kottinger because I did not wish to be his witness I said that according to the first petition they said that the ranch extended to the Tucalobe but he cannot produce any written paper from me to that effect. I merely said so because I did not wish to be his witness.

23.How far up the Arroyo de la Tusajero did Pacheco's rancho extend?

A. I do not know how far it reached, as that had not yet been measured.

His petition was for two leagues, but as he was always in discussion with Sunol and the Bernals no settled boundary was fixed.

Objected to as new matter and irrelevant.

A. Colindando with ~~Livermore~~ Amador. His petition was that his land should begin where Amdor's ends.

33. How do you know this?

A. By Pacheco himself.

A. I think not, Amador first had a house on the southern side of the spring which he afterwards changed to the other side.

A. Yes, I heard that he had already sold said land.

43. Did you not know before that that Amador claimed that land?

A. Objected to as new matter and therefore the counsel for has no right to cross examine (lined out from and therefore) and as to which the witness is the witness of Ibervenor"s Sunol, the Bernals, Fallon Murry and as to which new matter their cannot have no right to cros s examine the witness.

44. I repeat the last question?

Objected to because the question has been twice answered.

A. I do not know, I do not know even where Fallon lives or which is the land, I have never been around there since Pacheco died.

A. It is no use to lie, I don"t remember.

49. Do you think it was as much as ten years before Pacheco"s death?

A. I think so, perhaps more, but I do not know. I don"t wish to affirm what I don't know.

50. Before their cattle were seperated did not Pacheco and Amador hold their rodeos together, on the East as well as the West side of the Tisajero?

A. Yes, they had their rodeos together as the rodeo grounds between the Tasajero and Livermore"s, at the point of the Tular, and also near to the house of Amador, on the ground of Amador.

51. In collecting cattle for the rodeo which were held on the plains East of the Tasajero, what were the rodeo limits on the north, towards the headwaters of the Tasajero?

A. They used to go to bring the cattle fromwherever it could be found from the Canad where Wm Norris is, and all around those hills.

52. Did Pacheco have no rodeo limits towards the north, on the side of the Tasajero next to the Sierra Golgones?

A. They used to go to drive the cattle from the Canada San Ramon and all those hills around there, and all the Sierra around where Norris lives. There was where Amador's ranch extended.

53. After Pacheco and Amador seperated their cattle, did Pacheco hold any rodeo on t plain East of the Tasajero?

A. The cattle of Amador, Pacheco and the Bernals and Sunol was always mixed, and is Yet mixed. and they always gave rodeos together and do so yet.

54. How do you know that they are kept together now when you have not been there for the last nine years?

A. I'll bet myneck it is all together, that the Bernal's, Sunol, Martin (Marbin?) cattle are all together.

55. On which side of the Arroyo de la L- Tasajero were Pacheco's corrals?

A. There was never any corral on either side of the Tasajero, I used to brand cattle for Pacheco at Amador's where they were together but after they divided I myself made a corral for Pachëco, near the high road and near the point of the Tular opp osite to where the rodeo grounds were near the road from the Palos Secos to Amador's house, and just before coming into the plain.

Note: Ranchos of California - Santa Rita, Dolores Pacheco was grantee in 1839. Yount administrator claimed 8994 acres, patented Mar. 18, 1865.

Francisco (Solano) Alvis o, the mayordomo was a cousin of Juan Bojorques Jr. since he was the son of Francisco Xavier Alviso & wife Maria Agustina Bojorque the half sister of Juan Bojorquez Sr.

When the U.S. took over Calif. the grantees of ranchos had to prove their titles before the United States Land Commision. If they did so the U.S. Gov't usually appealled and a trial was held before the U.S. District Court, Northern or Southern District (ND or SD) depending on the location of the land grant.
